PETTLE THE LIGHT QUESTION.

To-day's hearing on the carriage light ordinance before the Aldermanic Committee ought to settle the matter. There has never been a necessity for a hearing. The arguments are all on one side. Having no voice and no cause on the day originally set for the Com mittee's session, the opposition resorted to delay, and to-day's continuation of the sitting is the result.

But this should end it. The proposed ordinance meets the approval of the public. When the Aldermen adopted the measure, their course was promptly and generally approved. Other cities were quick to follow the lead and seek to establish a like law. The reconsiderashock to New Yorkers. It did not change the opinion in this city, nor in other cities, that the ordinance was just and wise and should stand.

"The Bicycle Girl" is the up-to-date title of the new farce-comedy in which Miss Nellie McHenry will open her season at Long Branch in August. It is the work of Michael Wolf, and in all probability the bicycle girl has very little to do with the case. Miss McHenry, however, knows the value of a name, and the beauty of a farce-comedy is that you can call it anything on earth with-out impairing its plotlessness in the least.
